Counseling & Therapy in Video: Classic

Foundational videos from 1985-2010 cover recent history of practices
Formerly Volumes I & II, Classic’s 500+ hours of video provide a firsthand look at the realities of working with clients and the challenges associated with putting theoretical concepts into practice. The collection features world renowned therapists such as Albert Ellis, Violet Oaklander, Derald Wing Sue, and John Norcross demonstrating their methods and techniques. Students and faculty will also find documentaries on the human condition, which help with training in skills such as reflection and empathy.

Counseling & Therapy in Video: Volume III

Films about the founders of theory and the progression of practices to today
Volume III illustrates the theoretical models of counseling and psychotherapy as developed by the “giants” in the field such as Viktor Frankl, Albert Bandura, Albert Ellis, Aaron Beck, Virginia Satir, Jay Haley, and Carl Rogers. From there, Volume III emphasizes the evolution of the field by expanding into emerging areas such as social media, veterans, cyberbullying, mindfulness, and neuroscience, all the while examining new techniques and research-informed practice. More than 300 hours of video are available, with 70% of the titles filmed in 2012 or later.

The complete Counseling & Therapy Package

Counseling & Therapy in Video: Volume IV

Addresses new population groups, contemporary approaches and issues

Volume IV is tied to prevalent issues in counseling, such as the rise in cases involving underserved populations, racial trauma victims and veterans suffering from PTSD, as well as the compassion fatigue experienced by counselors themselves. Addressing topics such as psychopharmacology, neuroscience, LGBTQ, and research methods for courses in counseling, social work, or psychology, Volume IV is an ideal supplement for in-class lectures and homework assignments.

Counseling & Therapy in Video: Volume V, The Symptom Media Collection

Ideal for counseling, psychology, social work, nursing and other behavioral healthcare courses, Volume V helps students better recognize mental health disorders and provide accurate diagnoses via 400+ streaming mental health videos. The films in this vast collection range from 30 seconds to 15 minutes and are easily integrated into courses and lectures, used for homework assignments, or for sparking class discussion.

The Complete Counseling & Therapy Package

Psychotherapy Transcripts: Volumes I-II

6,000 transcripts of real therapy sessions, 40,000 pages of client narratives, and 25,000 pages of reference works in one cross-searchable interface bring the therapeutic process to life and provide unprecedented levels of access to the broadest range of clients.

Nursing & Mental Health in Video

Nurses today must understand, assess, and manage mental health issues that often present themselves alongside physical conditions. Prepare your students to do just that with Nursing & Mental Health in Video. This collection features over 240 videos and includes 20 patient cases of the most common mental health disorders nurses may encounter.

Social Work Online

is a multimedia resource that combines video – compelling documentaries and client demonstrations - with relevant text to illustrate the complex and challenging realities social work students will face as practitioners. This collection provides a lens through which students can see and understand how best to serve their future clients' needs. The videos in this resource are structured around the most important topics in the social work curriculum, most of which are applicable worldwide.

Psychological Experiments Online

is a multimedia online resource that synthesizes the most important psychological experiments of the 20th and 21st centuries, fostering deeper levels of understanding for students and scholars alike. The collection pairs 65 hours of audio and video recordings of the original experiments (when existent) with 45,000 pages of primary-source documents. It’s packed with exclusive and hard-to-find materials including notes from experiment participants, journal articles, books, field notes, letters penned by the lead psychologist, videos of modern-day replications, and modifications to the original experiments.

Food Studies Online

Food Studies Online is a first-of-its-kind database, bringing together rare and hard-to-find archival content with visual ephemera, text, and video. Food studies is a relatively new field of study, and its importance is felt in many major disciplines. It has social, historical, economic, cultural, religious, and political implications that reach far beyond what is consumed at the dinner table.

New archives related to British WWII rationing, food programs, and labor programs including the Women’s Land Army. This content pairs well with archival documents from the National Archives (US) that cover WWII rationing and food programs in the US.

13,000 pages of monographs
Publishers such as Cambridge University Press, Cornell University Press, Lynne Rienner, Berghahn, Wiley, and Princeton University Press. These books cover major topics relevant to the food studies and development student, including food movements, agriculture, food security, food in zones of conflict, supply chains, and food law.

Over 200 videos (100 hours)
Key documentaries, that address contemporary food issues including organic farming, pesticide use, the slow food movement, fair trade, and food security, as well as videos related to gastronomy that show how people grow, cook, and eat food around the world.
